The world premiere of the Moody 45 Classic at the boot Düsseldorf International Boat Show 2009

The Moody 45 Classic is the latest in a long line of Moody Classic yachts to hit the market. Steeped in tradition, the Moody Classic series is synonymous with graceful aft cockpit yachts and perfect for sailors who value a yacht's vintage aspects but refuse to sacrifice the latest in technology, performance and comfort.

After successfully designing the 41 Classic, designer Bill Dixon and interior designer Mark Tucker are back once again using traditional elements to create a one of a kind design. Traditional oval windows, hinged and made of chrome, as well as high gloss mahogany above and below deck come together to embody the timeless elegance of vintage yachts. The saloon's rattan doors and intricately quilted leather cushioning exudes warmth and ambience, while the pantry offers a generous amount of storage space and numerous other functions.

As with the 41 Classic, vinylester resins are included as standard in the Moody 45 Classic, which is also equipped with a composite keel that has a lead bulb tip. It provides even more safety in the event that the yacht runs aground. Altogether, the 45 Classic offers a wide range of standard specifications making her a gem in her class.
